Thesis: Some passages in the Bible seem harder to see their purpose, but God has a purpose in everything He does. Even though we might not see it at first, God does everything with intent and order. The table of nations in Genesis 10 has five larger purposes:

1. To show the effect of the blessings of the Lord and the judgment of Noah's prophecy.
2. To encourage brotherly love among all people because we all have the same Father.
3. To increase our awe of a powerful God who isn't in a hurry, but accomplishes His plan in His time.

4. To unlock a way to understand scripture where the names of these nations | often occur.

5. To point to Christ.
